Micro Strategies' Security Assessment Offering

The security assessment is your first step to identifying the best approach for securing your information infrastructure and data assets.

Micro Strategies offers a high level security assessment service, with the objective of alerting management to the state of their information security environment and its vulnerabilities to numerous security risks.

The assessment, performed by impartial consultants, consists of interviews and analysis of objective evidence, resulting in a final, written evaluation that quantifies the current state of information security and identifies general areas for process and system improvement.

Micro Strategies' consulting team offers a five to ten day engagement (on and off premises) to interact with senior management and collect pertinent data from the IT and business managers responsible for the systems in place. The duration of this engagement is dependent upon:

- Size of the organization
- IT infrastructure size and complexity
- Identified potential regulatory compliance issues
- Organization's business processes and degree to which business processes are outsourced
- Availability of client's resources (manpower and infrastructure) when required
- Organization's unique requirements (considering the industry and parent/partner information requirements, etc.)

Goal

The goal of the assessment is to identify, at a high level, whether efforts are required to enhance the organization's information security and, to the extent permitted by time, to identify the degree of information security risk. Since this is a high level assessment, based on what you tell us and with a limited commitment of time, there is no guarantee that every security risk will be uncovered.
